Thursday 18 May 2023 17:00:

Tantrwm Limited and Wales Netball announce Tantrwm National League sponsorship.

The Tantrwm National League starts at Bangor University Sports Hall on Sunday, 21 May 2023.

Tantrwm is a South Wales Valleys Video, Events and Digital Communications company.

Wales Netball, who promote and develop netball in Wales, announced a new sponsorship deal that will see Tantrwm as Head Sponsor for the National League for the 2023 season.

"There is an unmistakable level of respect between netball players and their opponents, along with games that allow supporters, friends and family to connect on a social level that doesn't centre itself around alcohol. This is a great step in moving away from stereotypes that prevent women and girls from competing in sports at all levels", said Brecon-based businessman and Tantrwm's Managing Director Andrew Chainey.

"Our business sector is male-dominated, and by being involved in this exciting league, we hope to give a new generation of female AV professionals opportunities to work with us in sport and other aspects of our business."

Tantrwm provides sound, lighting, and live stream services for Wales Netball, and whilst doing so, have become captivated and supporters of this fast-paced and skilful game. Tantrwm sees the importance of making the sport more accessible to women and for netball players to aspire to compete as adults at a national level.

"This competitive platform allows for the best domestic Netballers across Wales, giving a profile to women's sport. Six Teams, 72 players, three venues, 1 National League!" said Vicki Sutton, Wales Netball CEO.

"We have worked with Tantrwm on a few occasions now, and they are so incredibly supportive. They have once again highlighted this by coming on board as our National League Headline Sponsor and enabling us to live stream all three rounds of the competition. In a world where women's sport is always a second choice, we are very grateful to be a priority for Tantrwm".

Tantrwm prides itself in offering video, digital and event services that provide solutions and exceptional client liaison for customers around the UK. Their expert knowledge and experience span over 20 years, enabling them to adapt to customers' visions.
